SHADOWS IN THE DEEP

A Dallas IFGS LARP Game

Contact was lost with the port city of Fairhaven during the recent cataclysm, and many feared that the city, already half sunken into the sea, had been lost entirely. Local druids and the Dolphin lycan clan began at once to search for survivors. Instead, they have found the city intact, a shimmering bubble at the bottom of the sea, on the edge of the great deep that was once Drake's Bay.

Contact has been reestablished, and the druids are providing magical assistance for a few travelers to and from the city. With the immediate crisis past, the residents of Fairhaven are ready to celebrate their miraculous survival, and to look toward the future.
